

REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

WHERE TO REGISTER

RULES & ELIGIBILITY

Before someone can vote you must be a registered voter. It only takes 4 steps to register as a voter

STEP 1

For you to register as a voter, you must present a valid National ID Card to the registration center in your electoral area.

Acceptable forms of identification are:

- National Identity Card (“Ghana Card”)
- Passport

In the absence of any of the valid IDs above, an applicant must submit one completed Identification Guarantee Form endorsed by two registered voters

STEP 2

The Applicant will be required to provide his or her name, age, sex, residential address and other necessary information for the completion of the voter registration form (Form 1A) by the Registration Officer

STEP 3

Submit the completed registration form to the Data Entry Clerk to have your biometrics and photographs captured.

STEP 4

After going through the above steps, the registration official will issue to you a laminated voters ID Card and a receipt acknowledging your registration.

This Voter ID Card you must present on Election day for identification

Registration Statistics

Polling stations and poll workers who run them are the front lines of the Ghanaian elections. According to our data, during the 2016 elections, the Electoral Commission and local election officials operated 28,921 polling stations across the country.

The Electoral Commission will continue to capture data and statistics that will help provide a better understanding of electoral processes in the country.
