

A presidential election is the election of any head of state whose official title is President. There are three systems of presidential elections:

- First Past The Post (FPTP)
- Two-Round System (TRS)
- Preferential Voting

When most people think of presidential elections, they often think of awarding the presidency to the candidate who wins the most votes. This winner-takes-all approach is called First-Past-the-Post (FPTP). As of 2019, only 19 countries, including Ghana, implements this voting method.
